It has been great over the last few weeks to gradually allow more parents into the school to watch our class learning assemblies and also participate in our stay and read parent workshops. As we have said, reading is a priority for the children at William Stockton as it opened so many doors in learning. Involving our parents in this process is key too and we plan to put more of these sessions on to allow us all to work together to benefit the children.

William Stockton School remembered this week.

All the children were extremely respectful during our remembrance day minutes silence and have generated some great work around the day. All the staff were very proud of them. We also had our local graffiti artist visit the school to 'paint' some poppies around the front of the school.

Year 6 are looking forward to a trip on Tuesday to the 'Crucial crew HQ' where they will be learning about safety. Look out for all of the pictures on twitter.

We were entertained to a marvellous learning assembly from 3L this morning, sharing all of their fantastic learning with us. They won't have had much experience of presenting in an assembly and they were all SUPERSTARS!
